My name is John Daint. Not too long ago something terrible happened. People began to get sick. So sick that their internal organs systematically failed and they died in the most disgusting ways imaginable. Only they didn't stay dead and it wasn't long before the town I once knew became the nightmare my brother had warned me about. This is my journal. Death in a Northern Town returns with Only The Dead Die Twice. Join John, 80s Dave and Butty as they continue to try and stay alive in zombie infested Runcorn. BONUS MATERIAL This book also includes the complete scripts for Dead Town series 2. Dead Town is the critically acclaimed online zombie sitcom, based on characters from Death in a Northern Town.

"My name is John Diant. Father, brother, head of the anti-mayonnaise society and slayer of the living dead. It's now over a day since I last updated this journal. Over a day since my daughter Emily, her boyfriend Jonathon and my retro friend 80s Dave and I made it to my brother's house. After fighting the undead population of Runcorn to get here, we thought we'd be safe but nothing could have prepared us for what came next." Hydra City. Corrupt to its core. What was once a prosperous city, vibrant, and full of life is now a dark shadow of its former self. One man is making a stand. A beacon of light burning bright through Hydra's darkest days. One man gives the people hope. One man gives them something to believe in. His name, is Red Eye.

This collection reflects the still urgent project of historical recuperation, as well as an examination of literary representations and other cultural manifestations of the Black Diaspora. Disciplinary work within the boundaries of African American Studies has been enhanced by more general considerations of the history of "race" and racism in globalized contexts. The articles assembled here reflect recent empirical research as well as challenging theoretical considerations. Contributions address particular formations of racialized modernity owed to the impact of the Atlantic slave trade and slavery, and thus broaden the approach to the Middle Passage, to improve our understanding of it as a constitutive transatlantic phenomenon in the widest possible sense.

First published in 1973, this remarkable book about life in a small turn-of-the-century Wisconsin town has become a cult classic. Lesy has collected and arranged photographs taken between 1890 and 1910 by a Black River Falls photographer, Charles Van Schaik.

He is a Chicago Police Detective. She is an investigative reporter for the Chicago Sun. Together, Jack Riley and Moria Clark race against the clock to locate and rescue Moria's brother who is missing in the Arctic Circle. Dodging assassin's bullets and mercenary killers, Riley and Clark race from the mean streets of Chicago to the snow-covered wastes of the Arctic Tundra as they strive to rescue her brother and stop the plans of an evil oil company CEO to exploit and destroy the prehistoric wonders of a mysterious lost valley!
