Among the major professions, certified public accountancy has the most severe underrepresentation of African Americans: less than 1 percent of CPAs are black. Theresa Hammond explores the history behind this statistic and chronicles the courage and determination of African Americans who sought to enter the field. In the process, she expands our understanding of the links between race, education, and economics. Drawing on interviews with pioneering black CPAs, among other sources, Hammond sets the stories of black CPAs against the backdrop of the rise of accountancy as a profession, the particular challenges that African Americans trying to enter the field faced, and the strategies that enabled some blacks to become CPAs. Prior to the 1960s, few white-owned accounting firms employed African Americans. Only through nationwide networks established by the first black CPAs did more African Americans gain the requisite professional experience. The civil rights era saw some progress in integrating the field, and black colleges responded by expanding their programs in business and accounting. In the 1980s, however, the backlash against affirmative action heralded the decline of African American participation in accountancy and paved the way for the astonishing lack of diversity that characterizes the field today.

To get the best answer-in business, in life-you have to ask the best possible question. Innovation expert Warren Berger shows that ability is both an art and a science. It may be the most underappreciated tool at our disposal, one we learn to use well in infancy-and then abandon as we grow older. Critical to learning, innovation, success, even to happiness-yet often discouraged in our schools and workplaces-it can unlock new business opportunities and reinvent industries, spark creative insights at many levels, and provide a transformative new outlook on life. It is the ability to question-and to do so deeply, imaginatively, and "beautifully." In this fascinating exploration of the surprising power of questioning, innovation expert Warren Berger reveals that powerhouse businesses like Google, Nike, and Netflix, as well as hot Silicon Valley startups like Pandora and Airbnb, are fueled by the ability to ask fundamental, game-changing questions. But Berger also shares human stories of people using questioning to solve everyday problems-from "How can I adapt my career in a time of constant change?" to "How can I step back from the daily rush and figure out what really makes me happy?" By showing how to approach questioning with an open, curious mind and a willingness to work through a series of "Why," "What if," and "How" queries, Berger offers an inspiring framework of how we can all arrive at better solutions, fresh possibilities, and greater success in business and life.

being trusted by the CPA sends the flare-up to all your allies, competitors and peers, that you are someone who is trustworthy! And you know this. What does anyone require of you, to refer their clients to you? My late Grandfather told me this. Trust! Someone must trust you before they refer anyone or anything your way. Why? When you receive a referral you now represent, in part, the person that sent you the referral. If you are known, which you will be after reading my book, as being a trusted professional by the CPA, you will have achieved what many of your peers and competitors never have which is being welcomed aboard the battleship with the CPA; the most trusted professional in the world. Want an easy combination to remember? WWWWWH. Here is another, ABC, 1-2-3, KISS. Follow the dots on the road map I share with you, and I will lead you to the promise land. Remember, what I told you in the beginning that you are going to hear what is going on inside the CPA's head, so you are going to gain some unfair advantages with your opponent as I also reveal the warning signs to look for and dangers to remove to ensure your sweet deal closes. Know what "professional skepticism is?" Know why CPAs can come across awkward? Know how to learn from deflectors like sarcasm and turn that into an ace in your pocket? Well, I am giving you the playbook on knowing what to look for and more importantly what to expect so that you will move smoothly through unlocking millions for you and your company, and CRACKING THE CPA CODE. Buckle up my friend! THANK YOU FOR READING the description of my book. I also hold workshops to walk you through your specific land mine, to CRACK THE REFERRING CODE

The quality of everything we do depends on the quality of the thinking we do first. The leaders, professionals, parents and teachers who understand this are at the top of their fields and inspire some of the finest independent thinking in their environments. In More Time to Think, Nancy Kline shares ten effective ways to help people think for themselves with rigour, imagination, courage and grace. From learning that the mind works best in the presence of a question (so never be afraid to risk being wrong) and that a key factor in the quality of a person's thinking is how they are treated by the people with them while they are thinking, to the importance of appreciation and of facing what you have been denying, Nancy Kline shows how to create a successful Thinking
